

Abstract: A sample of 402 Brazilians was used to identify the consumer profile willing to pay for sustainable beef production methods. It is a niche with high income, high schooling, older, female, greater valuation of meat quality instead of price and high attention to information about quality on the product label.

Keywords: beef cattle; sustainable production; consumer.